ATTEMPTING TO BREAK THROUGH ITALIAN FRONT

Would Compel Retreat of the Diaz Armies and Capture Venice

TEUTONS FAIL TO PIERCE THE PIAVE RIVER LINE

Predict Successful Stand Will Be Made Against the Invaders

Austria-Hungary, with whom the United States is on the eve of a declaration of war as the principal ally of Germany, is taking the lead in a new attempt to break through the present front, compel the retreat of General Diaz's armies from the mountains, capture Venice and permit the Austro-German invaders to swarm over a wide extent of the northern Italian plains.

Failing to pierce the Piave river line in many attempts and flung back from the mountain passes between the Piave and the Brenta by the dogged Italian resistance, the Teutons have turned further westward to the Trentino region, northwest of Asiago and today are reported beginning an attack in force, on the Sette Comuni plateau.

A heavy concentration of Austro-Hungarian troops has been observed in this sector as many as 10 divisions of troops being employed, according to the indications. On Monday night the massed artillery began an extremely violent bombardment and this appears to have been followed by the throwing of strong columns of infantry against the Italian defenses.

First reports of the infantry movement came from Berlin, the German staff announcing that some of the hill position on the Sette Comuni had been taken. Field Marshal von Hoetzendorf, the Austrian general commanding the offensive army. Confidence has been expressed, however, that with the French and British at hand in considerable force in northern Italy to reinforce the Italian armies, a successful stand could be made against any further progress of the invaders.

A break in the Italian line at the bottom of the present attack would flank not only the Piave line, but render the rear of the Brenta, approximately 20 miles to the rear, impossible to hold and would compel an Italian retreat to the Adige, some 30 miles further westward.

Rumanian troops are now said to be joining the Russians in negotiations for an armistice with the central powers. Berlin sends this report, which has not been confirmed.

AMERICAN FLIERS WITH FRENCH ARMY ARRIVE IN ITALY

With the French Army in Italy, Tuesday, Dec. 4.—Among the troops and units that have arrived in Italy with the British and French armies is a large group of aviators who are impatiently waiting to get into action. The British have sent a large contingent of fliers, half of whom are young Canadians and Americans, who have been doing scout work in Flanders and northern France.

The squadron which expects to be given work at the front very soon, is proving quite an attraction for the Italians. While awaiting orders the fliers are keeping themselves in trim and the natives in fascinated delight by practicing over the town where they are billeted. There is scarcely an hour but that the hum of at least two and generally four or more motors is heard above the town and every public square is filled with crowds gazing upward as the young aviators bank and slide and spiral and twist.

The fliers are curious to know what the future holds in store for them, since few of them have ever flown over mountainous country as they will have to do here. They admit it will be a test to put them on their mettle since emergency landings, generally feasible in France, are almost out of the question here. They anticipate, however, that they will have to face superior numbers of enemy aviators, as it is not believed the Austro-Germans will be able to maintain a numerical advantage here.

The Canadians and Americans nightly entertain their comrades and crowds of curious Italians by holding song festivals at their hotel. American songs are sung mostly with an Italian officer, who has spent several years in England and America as the pianist. The piano flauts its German origin with the name plate "Zimmermann-Leipzig" while its strings echo American one steps and rag time.

One effect of the arrival of the French and British in Italy has been the rapid drop back to normal of Franco-Italian exchange which went up when the Austro-German offensive was in full flush of its success. At that time 100 francs brought 160 Italian lire but with the arrival of the troops the same number of francs now buy 138 lire and exchange daily is approaching par.

PLAN ARREST OF SUSPECTS OVER ENTIRE COUNTRY

Washington, Dec. 5.—In anticipation of a declaration of war on Austria, department of justice agents today were laying plans for the arrest throughout the country of scores of Austro-Hungarian subjects suspected of being enemy agents. Many of these men have been under surveillance for many months but lack of definite evidence prevented their internment.

With the adoption of a war resolution nearly a million Austrian subjects in the United States automatically become enemy aliens and amenable to President Wilson's recent order requiring registration of aliens and restricting their activities. The department of justice expects to put alien registration into effect within a few days and apply it at first only to eastern cities where the police will conduct registration. The task will be three times greater than when planned for Germans alone. The department realizes that many Austrian subjects, particularly Bohemians and the Slavic elements, are actually pro-ally and careful consideration will be shown in administering the regulations.

LEHMAN TRIAL PROMISES THRILLS

Waukegan, O., Dec. 5.—Developments that will place the Lehman case in the front rank of sensational Ohio murder trials were promised by the state today. The nature of the developments was not disclosed. The picking of jurors is still in progress, but it is believed testimony will begin tomorrow. One of the first witnesses will be Mrs. Alice Fenton, "the woman in the case."

A fourth special venire of 40 names was called by Judge F. H. Wolf at the Lehman trial. Judge Wolfe announced he will not permit the new veniremen to enter the courtroom prior to their examination. This is to expedite selecting a jury. The court said veniremen have learned jury dodging tricks from one another by sitting in the court room and listening to the examinations of veniremen. The state has three strikes left and the defense 14, but attorneys for both sides expressed confidence this afternoon that before the day ends they will have a satisfactory panel.

Early tomorrow, it is expected, the jurors will be taken to the scene of the murder. Prosecutor Stahl said it is not his intention to take Lehman along.

NO GOODS EXPORTED TO AUSTRIA IN YEAR

Washington, Dec. 5.—No goods have been exported to Austria during the past year, while in the nine months ending September 1, 1917, but $64,000 worth of goods of Austria origin have reached this country. It was explained at the department of commerce that these goods had probably been bought and paid for before the departure of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, and came to this country through Switzerland.

ACTIVE FIGHTING ON VERDUN FRONT

Paris, Dec. 5.—(Bulletin)—Eight German airplanes were brought down on Monday by French aviators, the war office today announced. Active artillery fighting is in progress on the Verdun front east of the Meuse.

WAR RESOLUTION IS INTRODUCED IN THE HOUSE

Provides That a State of War Exists Against Austria

MAY NOT BE ACTED UPON BEFORE EARLY NEXT WEEK

Both Houses of Congress
However May Agree Upon
Simultaneous Consideration

Washington, Dec. 5.—Postponement of the Austrian war declaration by congress until next week appeared probable today after conference between chairman of the senate and house foreign committee.

Chairman Flood of the house committee, said he hoped to get the resolution before the house tomorrow but postponement until Friday appeared probable and in such an event it was not believed that the senate could act before next week unless simultaneous consideration in both houses could be arranged.

The resolution for war against Austro-Hungary was introduced today in the house of representatives by Chairman Flood of the foreign affairs committee in the form and language approved by President Wilson.

It provides a declaration that because of Austria-Hungary's war-like acts against the United States in support of her ally, Germany, a state of war exists at and after noon today. It also pledges the full resources of the United States to bring the war to a successful conclusion.

The official text of the war resolution follows: "Whereas, the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government has shown its hostility to the government and the people of the United States by severing diplomatic relations and has formally adhered to the ruthless policy of submarine warfare adopted by its ally, the imperial German government, with which the United States is at war and has given to its ally every support and aid on both land and sea in the prosecution of war against the government and people of the United States of America; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that a state of war be and is hereby declared to exist and to have existed since noon of the fifth day of December, 1917, between the United States of America and the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, and that the president be and he is hereby authorized aid directed to employ the entire naval and military forces of the United States and the resources of the government to carry on war against the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government and to the senate was not in session, but its foreign relations committee, which will handle the resolution, was in conference.

In the house the war resolution was brought out by Chairman Flood, of the foreign affairs committee. The committee itself had been called to meet this afternoon to formally act upon the resolution and return it to the house for passage.

RAIN SHELLS ON POSITIONS HELD BY THE ITALIANS

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Tuesday, Dec. 4.—An exceptionally heavy artillery bombardment of the enemy positions around Asiago night and through the early hours today appears to foreshadow the long expected resumption of the heavy enemy offensive from the north. The cannonade was of extreme violence, the enemy using heavy as well as middle calibre guns.

The first violent eruption began early last night. There was a lull toward midnight and then it was resumed with added intensity at 3 o'clock this morning lasting until 9. Heavy shells were rained on the whole range of Italian positions and were concentrated particularly on the locations supposed to shield Italian batteries. The violence of the artillery action left little doubt that it was a prelude to infantry advances in force whereby Field Marshal Conrad von Hatzendorf, who is directing the Austrian forces in this sector, hopes to realize his project of pressing down the Asiatic valley leading to Vincenza and the open plain.

The latest reports show that the intense bombardment continues. The indication is that this is something more than a demonstration or feint and signals a new and strong offensive.

Great forces of men and guns have been massed by the Austrians and Germans in the Asiago section, according to reports reaching here to night and resumption of the offensive is expected. The reports indicate that the enemy is employing ten divisions of troops.

The suffragist leaders who will gather at Washington December 10 for their forty-ninth annual convention expect to launch a fight for the passage by congress at this session of the suffrage amendment to the constitution. They will demand it as pay for the work women are doing in the war. The women pictured above are among the leaders of the party. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt being national president.

CHINESE SOLDIERS CLASH WITH REBELS FOREIGNERS SAFE

Peking, Dec. 5.—Rebels from Hunan province are being engaged heavily by government troops near Chung King. The foreign consuls there have telegraphed that they have made every preparation to protect foreign lives and property should the government troops be defeated and Chung King be attacked. The northern military governors express strong disapproval of the suggestion made by the southern general that a settlement be arranged between the north and the south. The northerners demand a continuation of hostilities for the purpose of maintaining the government authority and prestige.

WET AND DRY ELECTIONS IN EAST

Boston, Dec. 5.—License forces won a decided victory over the opponents of the licensed sale of liquor by swinging four additional cities into the "wet" column in the 18 municipal elections held in the state yesterday.

Fall River, Fitchburg, Haverhill and Taunton changed from "dry" to "wet."

Notwithstanding the sharpest fight against licenses which has been made in many years, Springfield remained "wet" by 2,255 votes and in other cities license forces showed comparative gains.

Haverhill is near the state line of New Hampshire, which will close all its saloons next year.

Taunton, won by the "dry" forces last year by 178 votes, swung back to license with a margin of 1,419 votes.

The cities voting in favor of license this year are Chicopee, Fall River, Fitchburg, Gloucester, Haverhill, Holyoke, Marlboro, New Bedford, Northampton, Pittsfield, Taunton and Springfield.

Those remaining in the dry column are Brockton, Cambridge, Leominster, Needham, Quincy and Salem. This gives 12 license cities and 6 no-license cities, as against the preponderance of no-license cities last year of 19 to 8.

New England's veteran Mayor, Charles S. Ashley, was returned to New Bedford for his 19th term.

OHIO DENTISTS IN CONVENTION AT CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—Fifteen hundred dentists are expected to attend today's session of the fifty-second annual convention of the Ohio State Dental Society which opened here yesterday with a patriotic address by President F. M. Castro, of Cleveland, in which he spurred dentists on to greater efforts in fitting American soldiers for war.

A meeting of the advisory committee of the Preparedness League of American Dentists will be held today in connection with the state society meeting. Many prominent dentists are expected to attend and an Ohio Branch of the league will be formed.

The following officers were chosen for the coming year: President, Z. N. Wright, Dayton; first vice president, C. W. Mills, Chillicothe; second vice president, H. M. Semans, Columbus; director for three years, H. C. Brown, Columbus.

F. R. Chapman, Columbus, is secretary and A. O. Ross, Columbus, treasurer.

The convention will close tomorrow evening.

WAR DECLARATION WOULD ADD NUMBER OF ALIEN ENEMIES

Chicago, Dec. 5.—A declaration of war by the U. S. against Austria would automatically add between 50,000 and 60,000 persons to the number of alien enemies in Chicago and the immediate vicinity. It was learned today at the local headquarters of the federal department of justice. During the last week federal agents have taken a census of Austro-Hungarian subjects employed in various industrial plants in the Chicago district and it was said that the United States marshal is prepared to deal with them in case a declaration of war is passed by congress. About 2,000 Austro-Hungarians are employed in the stockyards, 4,000 in the steel industry, 3,000 in the international Harvester company plant and 2,000 in the Pullman company shops. The remainder are scattered among various industries.

McMANIGAL A SOLDIER

Tiffin, O., Dec. 5.—Orlie McManigal, of Tiffin, who played a prominent part as witness for the prosecution in the McNamara dynamite case, in Los Angeles several years ago, now is a United States soldier in France according to letters received from him by Tiffin friends.

OFFER FIVE CENT INCREASE

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—Cleveland street car men will take a referendum vote today on the Cleveland Railway company's offer of an increase of five cents an hour dating from Nov. 1, and overtime at the rate of time and a half for trips made by men who have worked a regular run of eight hours or more.

ALL BUT ONE OF 13 CONVICTS ARE CAPTURED

Joliet, Ill., Dec. 5.—All of the thirteen convicts who escaped from today's session of the fifty-second annual convention of the Ohio State Dental Society which opened here yesterday with a patriotic address by President F. M. Castro, of Cleveland, in which he spurred dentists on to greater efforts in fitting American soldiers for war.

The most spectacular performance of the band or outlaws during their brief period of liberty, occurred at midnight Monday when they held up an interurban car between Princeton and Morris, robbed the fifteen or more passengers of their money and clothing, clubbed them into the road, boarded the car and compelled the motorman to run it to Morris, a distance of 18 miles, where it was abandoned. A few hours later three posers captured seven of the band in a freight car at Morris.

Attorney Dooling and assistants brought three traveling bags of papers into court today. In several instances Judge Cline sustained objections to the defense which forestalled Mr. Dooling's apparent purpose to take the witness over the ground covered yesterday.

KEEP CLOSE WATCH ON RESTAURANTS

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—Department of justice operatives today were keeping close watch on restaurants which did not observe "Wheatless Day" today and restaurant-keepers and others who fail to obey orders of the food administration soon may find themselves out of business.

District Attorney Wertz called attention to the provision in the food law by which firms doing an annual business of $100,000 or more must have a government license. Restaurant-keepers, bakeries, and other concerns which come within this provision, will have their licenses revoked and will not be permitted to do business if the administration's orders are not carried out, Mr. Wertz said.

Names of 25 restaurant-keepers who failed to observe "meatless Tuesday" yesterday are to be turned over to County Food Administrator North, in the bureau of investigation, department of justice.

SALARY ORDINANCES SIGNED TODAY BY MAYOR R. C. BIGBEE

Mayor R. C. Bigbee today approved the salary ordinance for Newark police and firemen passed by the city council last Monday night.

The ordinances provide for an increase for all city patrolmen and firemen and had the endorsement of business, labor and financial circles, arrangements for the increase having been provided for when the levy was made some weeks ago.

The increase is $10 a month to each man in the fire and police departments.

DID NOT BREAK DOWN TESTIMONY OF FATHER IN LAW

Cross Examination of Patterson Concluded In Means Trial

READING OF LETTERS TO MEANS OCCUPIED SESSION

Claimed That Defendant
Will Take Stand and Tell of Death

Concord, N. C., Dec. 5.—The state concluded today its cross examination of W. R. Patterson, father-in-law of Gaston B. Means, on trial here charged with the murder of Mrs. Maud A. King, without bringing out anything materially to break down his testimony yesterday to the effect that the defendant's business transactions with Mrs. King's money were legitimate and with her knowledge and approval. Reading of letters written by Patterson to Means, in July, 1917, just after Patterson, Mrs. King, Mrs. Maud A. King and other members of their party had arrived at Asheville, from Chicago, and had been installed in a hotel, occupied most of the morning session.

Concord, Dec. 5.—Definite announcement that Gaston B. Means would take the stand in his own defense to describe the death near here last August of Mrs. Maud A. King for whose alleged murder he is on trial added new interest to the case today.

Means is expected to describe the defense's version of the tragedy at Blackwelder Spring, where it is contended that while on a target practicing trip Mrs. King, stumbled on a root, fractured a small bone in her ankle and fell, causing the pistol she held to be discharged.

The state contends that it would have been physically impossible for the woman to have inflicted the wound in the back of her head which caused death and has endeavored to show that Means had wasted the woman's fortune and killed her to evade being called to account.

Just when Means will make his statement has not been announced, and resumption of cross examination of Means' father-in-law, W. R. Patterson, of Clarksville, Miss., was the first thing today. Assistant District Attorney Dooling of New York, who is aiding the state, drew the acknowledgement from Patterson yesterday that Means had speculated in cotton and lost various sums of money for Mrs. King. He asserted however, that Mrs. King was aware of the transactions.

Patterson identified a number of letters as his handwriting addressed to G. B. Means. One written in November, 1916, said:

"It is at all probable that you will have work for me the coming winter."

In a small note book which the witness identified as his, there was a notation marked as "important" which recorded the information gained in an inquiry that "J. C. K." was stout and robust and in full possession of his faculties.

Attorney Dooling and assistants brought three traveling bags of papers into court today. In several instances Judge Cline sustained objections to the defense which forestalled Mr. Dooling's apparent purpose to take the witness over the ground covered yesterday.

MAY NECESSITATE ENTIRE CHANGE IN REGISTRATION PLAN

New York, Dec. 5.—In the event of a declaration of war on Austria-Hungary by the United States the task of dealing with enemy aliens in New York will be doubled, according to local federal authorities. Official estimates place the number of German aliens here at 120,000, and while definite figures are not yet available, the authorities estimated today that between 120,000 and 150,000 Austrians and Hungarians live in New York or immediate vicinity. At least 20,000 Austrians are employed as longshoremen or in other occupations that take them to the waterfront and more than 2000 work on lighters and barges. Up to the present the authorities have given the authorities no great trouble since the United States entered the world-war, federal officials say.

Because of the president's message yesterday all work here on the registration of German enemy aliens has been brought to a halt. Nothing further will be done until congress acts, because if Austrians and Hungarians are to join the German non-citizens as enemy aliens the entire registration plan will have to be revamped.

According to E. L. Mandel, editor of the Hungarian Workmen's Journal, of this city, there are 1,500,000 Austrians and Hungarians working in mines, steel mills and munition plants in America.

In addition to the Austrians and Hungarians who would be affected, Mr. Mandel said, that there are many laborers here of other races dominated by the dual monarchy.

ANNUAL MEETING LICKING COUNTY HUMANE SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Licking County Humane Society was held Monday night in the director's room of the Y. M. C. A., Rev. D. A. Greene presided as chairman. The following reports were submitted:

"Before beginning with the regular business of the evening, I wish to make a statement regarding the present position of the Humane Society as it was constituted under the re-organization a year ago.

"As it had been operated previous to that time in an uncertain and inefficient manner it was thought best to re-organize the society and federate it with the society of the Associated Charities. This was thought to give the Humane Society more scope and while it would maintain its distinctive usefulness it could be more economically operated by dividing its expenses with the society of the Associated Charities. This has been accomplished in a manner most gratifying to both.

"Cases of cruelty to animals have greatly diminished during the past year and prosecutions have been but few, as in most instances by judicious management of our humane officer the parties have been dealt with in an effective manner without resorting to legal proceedings.

"In our domain of cruelties to children, and delinquencies of parents, our work has perceptibly increased. The same judicious handling of these cases has been productive of gratifying results. Our secretary informed me a day or so since, when asked concerning delinquents, that she attributed the success of settling many cases by a rigid following up process by the humane officer, which he invariably did.

"What this society needs is a larger membership, not so much for the fee, as that is only $1 per year, but more from the moral support and sanction of its endeavors. The citizen should encourage and back us up in our efforts to serve the cause of humanity. It is perhaps not generally understood that we have statutory laws in Ohio to provide funds in a limited way and to quite clearly guide us in our duties and actions against infractors of society, but we are all aware that it takes money to run anything right, and the funds at the disposal of the commissioners this year has not been adequate for us to do the work as we would like to do it. However, we are promised better support for the coming year.

"Our management of the affairs of the society is very much better under the direction of a board of trustees than it was formerly when its business was entrusted to the chances of an uncertain attendance of members. Notwithstanding this change for the better, I wish to impress on the members of the society that anyone accepting the duties of a board of trustees should feel his obligation strong enough not to let every trifling thing interfere with his presence at the regular meeting. It is a most embarrassing and discouraging dilemma to be obliged to postpone a meeting when regular business should be transacted, by reason of perhaps of one member being absent.

"With a good, active board of trustees and an increased interested membership there is all reason to believe that we can do more and better work than we have in the past. C. C. METZ, President."

Report of the Secretary.

"The reports tonight are presenting to you statistics on the past year of service given our community by the Humane Society. In many respects they may seem like a repetition of figures published last year. The volume of work grows with the city. Some bad conditions improve and some other problems arise. These same figures, however, demand the serious consideration of thinking citizens. Like soldiers, we, your agents, have been placed on the firing lines and when we come to you with reports of how the battle goes you must give us your attention.

"We have been faced with the usual conditions involved in social history of neglected children, physical cruelty, physical neglect, non-support, abandonment, interperence of parents, and mental defects. These are all familiar terms. But as we work these re-occurring conditions begin to have new meanings. Cases of extreme physical cruelty continue, although such cases are not so numerous, but 119 neglected children are just 119 too many. As we study these cases, it becomes apparent that the abuse we see is the result of some fundamental forms of degeneracy. Cruel parents are generally those whose mental defects, bestial intemperance, and moral degeneracy, fostered by sordid living conditions have incapacitated them to express their emotions in any other than vicious and violent forms. Their children suffer with them until rescued. In many cases of neglect, non-support has been a feature—we say feature rather than cause, as it becomes more and more apparent that non-support is but a symptom of serious social disorder. The significant thing is that in a non-support case there has been a failure to meet a very obvious and urgent social responsibility. We are forced then to realize that our day has become somewhat lax about bearing responsibilities when they are hard. In dealing with non-support cases we feel the need of developing a finer technique which will be used not only in the office and court, but at every point of vantage. We must realize that the non-support problem is not solved by prosecution, imprisonment, or routine probation, but that it demands skilled service. We must realize that in this non-support problem we face a social disorder which calls for diagnosis and treatment. We continue making every effort to work out as many of these difficulties with husband and wife outside of court, believing it much better to avoid publicity, but even in this type of case the assurance of a strong backing in the juvenile court has a very salutary effect.

"The humane work and the charity work, with the public health work, are so closely related and the activities of each so overlap that it is difficult to outline the work of any one of these agencies. As an instance of this: One case was reported to the office of a foreign woman who was ill and deserted. The public health visiting nurse helped on the case for several weeks and finally secured a place for the woman in the hospital where she could receive further treatment. The woman and baby of about two years had been deserted and were without support, so the Associated Charities helped with groceries until the woman could be placed in the hospital. The humane agent was called upon to secure a warrant for the arrest and return of the deserting husband. And so you see the three agencies, working together, was a great advantage.

Department Animal Protection.

"One step ahead in this department during the year has been the addition of Mr. Bucy's horse. This almost doubles the capacity of our agent. It is now possible for him to reach the emergency case in time to be of some service. It also enables him to give more attention to the inspection work throughout the entire county.

"It will be noted that during the year through the suggestion of our agent, 75 infirm horses have been destroyed. This discloses one of the worst forms of cruelty which still exists in an enlightened, but selfish community. We cannot too often emphasize the vicious practice of trafficking in infirm horses who, after years of service, are made the subjects of a disreputable business. Our laws on this subject are not strong enough to be effective, and such punishment as is meted out usually falls upon the less guilty parties. The real offenders are the men who seldom work these horses, but who buy them for a pittance and after doctoring them for a time in the barns sell them to some unsuspecting peddler. We are told by many men, who are accustomed to going about the city and watching the streets, however, that the condition of horses on our streets is constantly becoming better. That they see fewer infirm horses and fewer cases of extreme cruelty. We confidently believe that such improvement is due to the watchful work of our agent. During the year he has continued regular inspection of markets, gravel pits, grading, and excavations and as far as possible hills on icy days, and is always keeping his eyes open for animals in need of protection. Respectfully submitted,

LEONTINE K. MOORE,

"Assistant Secretary."

WILL BE HELD

HERE IN JAN.

The members of the Newark

Fanciers association are busily engaged in preparation for their next Poultry Show, to be held during the week of January 14.

The Chamber of Commerce has donated two silver cups to be competed for at this show, and the state exhibit, which proved to be one of the most interesting exhibits we have even had in the city along this line, is again expected.

One of the best judges in the country, A. F. Kummer, Butler, Pa., has been secured to place the awards and a great show is anticipated.

Another meeting of members is held tonight at Osburn's on Church street to complete arrangements and any one whether a member or not, who is interested in poultry—either for meat and eggs or fancy feathers is cordially invited to attend.

MACHINE GOVERNMENT.

Much solemn and superior moralizing is heard from Republican partisans over the evils of Tammany hall, now returned to power in New Democratic party that tolerates such an organization. All which is very well, only the argument should be carried to its logical conclusion. These prophets of good government should hand out equal justice to the notorious Republican machines of cities like Philadelphia and Chicago.

So far as heard from, the Democrats of the country accept a big vote rolled up in New York for Tammany, with about the same cheerfulness that the Republicans take a similar one secured by the equally corrupt Republican machines of Philadelphia and Chicago.

Republican politics in Philadelphia has long been a scandal. Yet the city voted two to one for Hughes in 1916, and one recalls no expression of horror from the Republican leaders, who were glad of the machine support for their traditional high tariff.

During recent years New York City has shown signs of amendment and has been pretty well governed. But the old Republican machine in Philadelphia runs along year after year without much change and in the main in the hands of the same old crowd. Respectable figure-heads are sometimes allowed in the higher offices, but they can do but little to check the prevalent graft and incompetence. The decent elements of the city denounce it, but Philadelphia's vote has to be secured in national and state elections so the old conditions are tolerated.

The real responsibility for the success of Tammany in New York lies with indifferent Republicans, who were too slothful to attend their party primary back in October. This permitted the emissaries of Tammany hall to run a decoy candidate and divide the anti-Tammany vote. Had the Republican voters showed some civic spirit, an anti-Tammany control of the city could have been maintained.

WINNING THE WAR.

It has taken limitless patience for two years to watch the slow progress of the allied army butting against the western front. Up to a few months ago a gain of 500 yards was regarded as good. Around Ypres this fall there have been several gains of a mile at a time. In the attack on Cambrai, the first day's net was five miles, the biggest of the war. But if attacks were to slow up after one day and then a long period of preparation must follow for another, it is a tedious job pushing the German to their frontier.

Artillery preparation tears up the enemy defenses pretty well for a mile or so, and the men can then go in and occupy the territory. Unless they have such a line of armored tanks as was provided for the Cambrai attack, the attacking force then finds itself up against even stronger defenses. In them are the enemy, completely armed with machine guns, bombs and grenades. Our men meanwhile, probably have discharged most of their weapons and the attack has to hold up.

The problem then is, in the confusion prevailing, to keep our men so well armed and organized that they can keep up attacks. The situation is one of disorganization, confusing all plans and of tumult, upsetting every one's self command. The various units must be so intermingled that it is difficult for the supply system to see that no group of men is neglected.

Furthermore, the guns must be brought up quickly so that they can support the men in their new positions and help them press on further.

And all this time the food organization must follow closely, for no soldier can fight along while hungry and faint.

Maintaining organization and system amid all the upsetting conditions is one of the biggest problems before the officers, and it will take all the executive skill and presence of mind they can muster.

THE TANKS.

The remarkable performance of the British armored tanks in the fighting near Cambrai November 21-22, will set the technical men to thinking. To have broken through the trench-line for nearly seven miles in two days was a wholly new development. It equalled what it took six months to accomplish in the Somme river fighting in 1916.

From this distance it looks as if this success were very largely due to these tanks. The Germans, of course, claim to have destroyed a large part of them by artillery fire. Still they served their purpose for the time being.

No doubt another time the Germans would be better prepared. But the tanks proved wonderfully effective in mowing down the barbed wire entanglements in which an infantry attack is held up and the men butchered. Their performance is one of the surprises of the war and they may prove one of the most decisive factors.

It would seem as if it would pay our government to build a lot of them. They do splendid work in saving the lives of soldiers. In the Cambrai fighting, the number of British killed and wounded was reported no greater than the number of German prisoners. Ordinarily the number of killed and wounded exceeds the prisoners about four times.

Also, it is a great advantage not to have to prepare for such an attack by a heavy use of artillery. Such a bombardment gives notice to the enemy that the attack is coming, and he has time to bring up his reserves. Also the high explosive shells need to tear up the zone of defense and wipe out concrete shelters are tremendously costly and are one of the biggest items of war costs. The United States should promptly take up this idea and work it for what it is worth. It would look as if it would pay to lay down a tank every few hundred yards from the English channel to Switzerland.

Someone asks what has become of the Newark woman who used to get dinner for 20 people without help. Dunno, but her daughter says Thanksgiving never bothers her any, as she just telephones to the restaurant for reservations.

The composers who turn "Venice" into "Vienna" in the editor's labored editorial on the German advance, need never wonder why so many newspaper men wear a cynical and pessimistic expression of countenance.

Someone asks us to define what the Russian Bolsheviks are trying to do. As nearly as the outside world can make out, they are doing their best to interfere and prevent the things they want to get done.

Fortunately for the coming session of congress, the speeches now being prepared by the congressmen can be printed in the Record without everyone having to stop and listen to them.

German-American citizens who complain of being boycotted can protect themselves by the simple expedient of taking hold loyally to help the government.

Former Ambassador Gerard favors hanging every traitor to a lamp-post, but probably he would not object to a tree in a rural district.

After a few days in a quiet sector of the front, the American soldier will never complain of a noisy July Fourth celebration.

Pinning the Russians down to anything about now looks much like nailing the northeast wind to the barn door.

ALL-AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE.

(Pittsburgh Gazette Times.)

With National Guard units from every state in the Union in France it may be said that the United States as a whole is actively in the war. The news from the American army headquarters abroad puts a new thrill into every corner of our country. It will be a new stimulus to effort to win. It will spur every loyal citizen to fresh endeavors in support of the government; to more eager sacrifice and labor in contribution to the safety and comfort of our boys who are carrying Old Glory under the guns of the enemy.

Pennsylvania and Oregon, Maine and New Mexico, Florida and the Dakotas and very other one of the 48 states, each represented by a white star in the field of blue, have sons with Pershing. How much closer that brings the war to all of us! What a unifying feeling that gives us! The common interest which we have felt all long, rather vaguely as to some it must be confessed, has become vitalized with the knowledge that "over here" the boys of the whole nation are sharing whatever may be their lot for all of us at home. There are no sections in Pershing's army; there can be no sectionalism in the sentiments of us at home. They are all America's boys under the Stars and Stripes in France. They make up All-America army. We must be an All-America people back of them. That means we must exert ourselves to the utmost limit of our means and capabilities to support them and bring victory swiftly to their arms.

Very wise was the decision to send units from every state to France. A thin line the National Guardsmen will make, as armies go today, but what a mighty force to bind our nation to a holy purpose!

PANAMA AND SUEZ.

(Philadelphia Record.)

Last year the Canadian wheat commandeered by the British Government, was shipped to Italy to relieve a food shortage there. It is understood that 2,000,000 tons will be sent to Italy this year for the same reason, but instead of proceeding from Montreal, as would originally be the case, its shipments are to be made from Vancouver. The reason for preferring the longer route is its relative safety, permitting the employment of slower steamers and the release of a corresponding number of faster vessels for running the submarine blockades. Voyages from Panama to Gibraltar would be made through a part of the ocean which is quite free of the U-boat menace and is not even included in the extension of the war zone to the waters surrounding the Azores just proclaimed by the German Admiralty. From Gibraltar to Genoa these voyages could be continued through Spanish territorial waters and the well-protected waters of the south coast of France.

The Panama-Gibraltar route also commends itself as the one by which the stocked-up wheat crops of Australia could be sent to Europe with the least possible hazard. It is too far from the U-boat bases to be ever seriously endangered, even if the submarine menace now rapidly on the decline, should be greatly increased. The Strait of Gibraltar is a gateway to France and Italy that will always remain open; and it may be assumed that the Balearic and Ligurian Seas and the Gulf of Marseilles are and will continue to be, so effectively patrolled as to keep them as clear of risks during the war as they would be in times of peace. In the worst possible case imaginable, there is a lane that could not be blockaded, also for South American trade with the Entente Powers. Of course, the worst imaginable is not going to happen. The German proclamation of a barred zone around the Azores is a tacit recognition of the existence of a rent in the U-boat blockade line, and a futile attempt to close a gap. A most interesting possibility is the temporary substitution of the connecting link for commerce between the Panama and the Suez Canal as the Pacific and ports of the Indian Ocean and southern and western Europe. And some of these temporary trade routes may become permanent.

FOILING THE U-BOATS.

(New York Evening Post.)

The safe arrival of another contingent of our troops in France gives us further reason for congratulation on the excellent work of our transport service. Thousands of troops and tons of material moved and a soldier and, apparently, a ton of supplies, lost, constitute a wonderful record and show conclusively that U-boats can be completely foiled if enough precautions be taken. That similar success in protecting our merchant ships and those of England has not attended the efforts of the English and American navies, must be ascribed to the fact that there simply are not war vessels enough to convey and protect them all. The achievement recorded not only furnishes ample evidence that we can continue to move troops and supplies 3,000 miles across the seas without fear of appreciable loss, but also indicates a very bright future for the Anglo-American campaign, generally, against the submarine danger. What can be done absolutely for a limited number of vessels will, with expansion of shipbuilding, eventually be done for the great mass of cargo carriers.

AFTER THE WAR.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

Fredrick C. Howe, Cleveland's new commissioner of immigration at New York, believes that at least 2,000,000 residents of America will hasten back to their fatherland as soon as peace opens the way. He bases his conclusion upon the following observations:
1. A census taken by all railroad and steamship companies showing that at least 1,000,000 of our foreign born are planning to go to Europe the moment peace is declared.
2. The reports of a large number of employers in western cities that there seems to be a concerted movement to induce Hungarians, Austrians and other central European peoples to return to their native lands.

3. Bankers in the coal and industrial regions report that Poles, Italians and Russians in very large numbers are saving money and making preparations for return.

4. His study of European agricultural conditions, as contrasted with those in the United States. Here are facts for serious American thought. The United States could ill afford to lose 2,000,000 sturdy industrial workers with the coming of peace.

GERMAN SPY WORK.

(Seattle Post-Intelligencer.)

Germany's civil army in America, that burns and destroys American war material and army supplies, is estimated to have destroyed approximately $10,000,000 worth of property during the month of October. In the seven months since the United States entered the war German emissaries have destroyed, in food alone, approximately $25,000,000 worth, three-fourths of it by fire. In October a five-million-dollar fire occurred at a Baltimore dock, the Kansas City stock yard fire destroyed one and one-half million dollars worth of property, and a blaze at Rochester, N. Y., cost a million dollars; the Brooklyn elevator fire cost two million dollars. Much of the property lost by fire consisted of supplies for Great Britain and France awaiting shipment overseas. All told, the operations of German agents in America during October compared very favorably in destruction with the operations of the German submarines off the Irish and English coasts.

A SOAPLESS WORLD.

(Chicago Tribune.)

If the war goes on indefinitely this may yet be a soapless world. Germany, where soap was first made, is soapless already. History teaches us, however, that the world was soapless for quite a handful of centuries, and a tolerable enough world despite that. The soap mentioned in the Old Testament consisted of vegetable ashes. It was soap only by courtesy of a mistranslation. The glory that was Greece knew nothing of soap. The grandeur that was Rome made the acquaintance of soap only in Pliny's day. A soapless world used olive oil instead. Imperial Rome's North African colonies thrived on the trade in olive oil, and when the Italians took Tripoli a few years ago and expected magnificent cities to arise, there had been cities of magnificent cities before. Persero reminded them that humanity no longer scrubbed itself with olive oil. Any inventor who will come forward with a cheap, practical, humane substitute for soap, will reap a fortune. If the American market goes back on him after the war, we can name an empire that will be slow to reach the soap standard of luxury and eager to wash its hands of the war.

WILL RUSSIA BREAK UP?

(New York Times.)

Speculations as to the fate of Russia have usually assumed as a basis the continued existence of the country we now know by that name with its present geographical bounds. It is quite possible, however, that that vast empire will disappear, resolving itself into its constituent elements. The declarations of independence by Finland, Ukraine and other factors in the empire, the latest such declaration, that of the Caucasus, was reported only yesterday, may be the symptoms. Russia is an enormous bundle of nations which hitherto have been tied together by the string of cordon. The string has been cut. The bundle may fall apart. It may be that the historian, looking back at the wake of the ship, will disregard the zigzag dashes and serpentine undulations which engross the attention of us who are close to it, and will see it as a straight line; and that he will describe the March revolution as the initiation of the creation of new nationalities which for many centuries had been gathered together under the illogical rule of the czar.

THIS THING OF HATING.

(Columbus Sunday Dispatch.)

This thing of sitting down and hating someone is a mighty unprofitable business. It is a never-ending debt or fattened a hog. No man ever hated another into getting a good job, and there is no record of where any one was ever able to trade hate for bread.

A peculiarity of this thing of hating a fellow is that the fellow never seems to care. Often he doesn't even know that you hate him. You can't hate him hard enough to cause him to cross the street at a certain place, or to compel him to wear certain kind of clothes.

There may be a lot of people in the world who are not fit for anything else than for people to hate them, but even then it is a poor occupation. But the truth is, as a rule, the fellow you hate is better than you are, or wiser, or richer. That is why you hate him. You do not hate your inferiors. You may have a contempt for them, but hatred is a thing that pertains to those who are superior. It's the fellow who defeats you, nine times out of ten, whom you hate—if you hate at all.

NORWAY IS NOT SWEDEN.

(Christian Science Monitor.)

One fact cannot fail to impress those who have followed the attitude of Norway towards Germany in regard to the latter's ruthless attack on Norwegian shipping, and that is the unflinching dignity and courage of the repeated protests which Norway has sent to Berlin. As far as physical force is concerned, Norway is of course, as against Germany, practically powerless. More than once since the outbreak of the war it has been shown, in authoritative quarters, how entirely Southern Norway was at the mercy of Germany, and how the sudden occupation by that nation of the Norwegian southern ports was a possibility very much to be reckoned with.

These conditions, however, have made no difference in the Norwegian attitude. Norway has never failed to maintain her sovereign rights, in the only way open to her, and in this the government has been ably seconded by the press.

Spirit of the Press

Reciprocity.

Circumstances alter cases, and a great deal depends on where you live and what your opportunities are. Take it, for example, in the East of the United States. When women of that section run out of wool yarn for soldiers' socks, and find that it is scarce and high, they write to the newspapers about it, and very properly. When the women of North Dakota find themselves in need of a new supply of wool yarn for the same patriotic purpose, they sheer a few sheep and then replenish their stock. It may strike a mere on-looker that it would be a good thing if the Northwestern and the Northeastern women would work cooperatively; the first group shearing, cleaning and spinning the wool, and the second knitting.—Christian Science Monitor.

A Dangerous Element.

They have found some pro-German teachers in the New York public schools. Three will be dismissed and eight transferred. It is a question whether the three ought not to be sent to prison and the eight interned. If there are pro-German teachers in the schools of other cities they should be placed where they can do no harm. This country is engaged in a desperate war and it cannot be indulgent with enemies behind the lines. They are more dangerous than the enemies in front of the lines.—Philadelphia Record.

What Chance for the Rabbit.

Russia, being without a government, without ability to fight, proposes an armistice. Trotsky is not a humorist. He's a fool merely. When the rabbit moves peace with the terrier upon a basis of the protection of rabbit's rights the Russia of Trotsky and Lenin will enjoy peace with Russia.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Is a "Crime" Contemplated?

Some 20 or 25 years ago, the goldbugs used to call it a crime even to suggest fixing a certain price for silver. It was powerfully contended that silver was only a commodity and its price should be regulated by the demand for it. Now the governments of the United States and Great Britain are reported to have entered into an alliance to fix the price of silver at 85 or thereabouts for government purposes, so as to prevent it from mounting higher. We would esteem it much if Mr. Bryan on one side and the gold authorities on the other side would enlighten us whether or not this proposed action of powerful governments would be a crime.—Anaconda Standard.

Changing the Flag.

It is proper that citizens should display the flag of the country conspicuously and frequently during the time that the nation is at war. The flags are everywhere displayed. The trouble is that in some cases they have been displayed too long. Some that have been out ever since war was declared are beginning to look shabby. The people are urged to display the colors, but the flag should be cleaned frequently and a new one substituted when the old one begins to show signs of use and hard weather. Keep on showing the colors all right, but buy a brand new flag now and then.—Anaconda Standard.

AMUSEMENTS

ALHAMBRA.
Tonight and Tomorrow.
The many friends of Carlyle Blackwell will tonight and tomorrow at the Alhambra theater have the opportunity of seeing him in a different sort of a role from the kind he is accustomed to playing. Mr. Blackwell in “The Burglar,” the World-Picture Brady-Made which will be shown at this theater on this date, enacts the role of a man who is the unfortunate creature of circumstances. He is first seen as a fun-loving, impetuous young college student who through his love of a prank gets into a very serious scrape. Later, when in another city he is making good and is happily married, the wrong that he did before rises to plague him and it finally lands him in the penitentiary. Still later in a very surprising manner he finds his wife and little daughter.

GRAND.
Charles Ray.
“The Pinch Hitter” a Triangle picture produced under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince, presents Charles Ray in the character of Joel Parker, known among the inhabitants of Turkey Creek, Va., as the “bashfullest critter in the country and sort of dummified.” He finally gains permission from his crabbed old father to attend Williamson college. Looking not unlike Ichabod Crane, he invades the campus and is greeted as a prehistoric animal by a squad of college boys, who straightway conduct him to the “Students Progressive Cream Puff Parlor” and exhibit him to the pretty proprietor, Abbie Nettleton. She sympathizes with the gawky youth and encourages him to try out the baseball team. At first he is put on as a mascot, but his chance comes, and he wins a spectacular victory for the school. Incidentally he wins the love of a girl and the respect of his crusty father. Obedient, “The Pinch Hitter” will be shown at the Grand theater on Thursday and Friday in connection with the Triangle comedy, “A Dog's Own Tale.”

Large crowds yesterday saw the second day's showing of the Paramount picture feature, “Arms and the Girl,” in which Billie Burke defies the whole German army. American pluck and wit triumph—when the Germans made a dash for the gates of Paris the girl was there. Was there with the prettiest romance Billie Burke has ever played in. There's love, laughs and adventure in this thrilling story of life “over there” and then there is an added feature that thrilled, “The Retreat of the Germans at the Battle of Arras,” a two reel Pathe special, which will be shown at this house for six weeks. The first episode yesterday proved all the advance press reports said. They were made in the midst of death and destruction for the Official Government Pictures, Inc., of which Wm. K. Vanderbilt is president. The first episode seen yesterday shows some of the large battle ships of the British navy, submarines, torpedo boats, mine sweeping boats, making of guns for these boats, getting their armies prepared for the great battles, etc. None should miss the starting of what is said to be the greatest war picture brought over for they will show you just what this war means to us. Some of the high spots in them being: The rush over the top, tanks in gory action, big guns spitting death, aeroplanes combats, machine guns spitting steel, shells, exploding craters, etc. They show life's greatest game, played by armies of men. The first episode together with the Billie Burke feature is seen today for the last time.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.
Evelyn Nesbit Thaw will be presented at the Auditorium for two days, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 7-8, in the startling photodramatic success, “Intolerance,” in which she makes her initial appearance before the camera as a full-fledged motion picture star. Appearing in a principal role in support of the star will be her little son, Russell Thaw, who is now six years old. Because of the wide fame of Evelyn Nesbit and the great similarity of this play to her own eventful life this extraordinary engagement should be unusually interesting to local theatergoers.

“This is the Life.”
George Walsh, who had had an encounter at one time or another with everything in the world, finally met up with the United States government, and after passing through what looked like a severe ordeal, came out of it with flying colors and a high opinion of the United States army and its efficiency.

He had been spending a few days with R. A. Walsh, his director, Miss Wanda Pettit and other members of his company down on the Pacific coast, taking pictures of “This is the Life,” the latest comedy in which he is to appear for William Fox.

They did a good deal of work outside of San Pedro, in the steamboat “President,” which is commanded by Captain Cousins, who is one of the familiar skippers along the coast.

When they had about finished their work, it occurred to R. A. Walsh that it was necessary to have a “closeup” of a blowing whistle and the cameras were arranged so that this could be done. The whistle was blown when they were quite near shore and within the lines of fortifications and they did not know at the time that the army officers were attracted and that field glasses were trained on them and the incident carefully observed.

When the President was about half way toward San Diego, wireless messages were received by Captain Cousins to detain all the company that had cameras at the time of taking the picture. To load all the films and that they would be subjected to examination on arrival at San Diego.

Once on shore the Walsh brothers, by actual demonstration, soon convinced the officials that the position of the cameras at the time of taking the picture could not possibly have brought any of the fortifications on land into focus. With the additional assurance that when the films were developed the government would have opportunity to inspect them, the officers released the company.

The Real Babylon.
Is it a knock or is it a blast to call your city “modern Babylon”? This is the question that arises to plague the municipal upholders from the flames of the ancient city—its fearful destruction, portrayed in Griffith's greatest spectacle “Intolerance.”

Up to this time it has been the fashion in the London, New York or Paris as a “modern Babylon” when you desired to condemn in round numbers. Babylon has stood for everything that is over-luxurious, vicious, decadent and depraved. In fact, it has stood for a whole lot more than that ever deserved. This is the opinion of research professors and historians, who aided Mr. Griffith in staging his monster quadrama, “Intolerance” with the most painstaking decree of historical accuracy.

Babylon was great. Babylon was wealthy. Babylon was the center of human life was seamy with sin and afflicted with crime. But after all, Babylon was no villain; it was naughty, but not a villain.

were auctioned into matrimony and to the highest bidder—a system which is said to differ only in externals from the practice of ambitious parents of today. Beautiful women brought the highest prices, of course. And for the homely ones—there was both hope and despair. The money gained in sales of beauties was divided into dowries for their less favored sisters.

The fashions of Babylon were beautiful and gorgeous. There were Worths and Paquins in those days. Babylon was—well, when you see its tremendous vistas of wealth and pleasure in “Intolerance” you may be inclined to agree that comparing one's home town with Babylon is a real boost for one's home town. “Intolerance” comes to Newark for three days, starting Dec. 13. Mail orders are now being received.

Auditorium Notes.
The injury to George Walsh's knee sustained while leaping from the wall to the back of a horse in the “Banks of the Nile” did not take away the least bit of his nerve as you will see in his next feature, “This is the Life,” that is shown at the Auditorium Sunday. In this he performs stunts that will surely make you sit up and take notice.

Manager Fenberg has arranged a good scale of prices for D. W. Griffith's great picture, “Intolerance,” which comes to his house for three days commencing Dec. 13. The entire lower floor has been placed at 50c, with the balcony at 25c. All seats are reserved and mail orders are now being received. One performance in the afternoon and one at night will run during the engagement.

DAUGHTER OF A BODYGUARD OF GEN. WASHINGTON

Visiting in City Past Month Leave Today for Home in Dakota—Father Was Sgt. Warrington.

One is not often favored with the rare treat of meeting a living link between the Revolutionary Period and our own day, yet in our city has been visiting for a month the daughter of a man who helped make possible the blessing we enjoy under the Star Spangled Banner.

To be a "real daughter" of a soldier loyal to a cause against such odds as were fought for in 1776, would seem glory enough, but to be a daughter of one of the body guard of George Washington is more, and it was an inspiration to clasp her hand.

Mrs. Charlotte Warrington Turner is the seventeenth child of Sgt. William Warrington, who was born in Accomac county, Virginia, April 29, 1754, and enlisted in Captain Thomas Snead's company, 9th Va. Regt., with Col. Charles Flenning, on February 14, 1776. Later he was transferred to the command-in-chief, General George Washington's Body Guard, commanded by Caleb Gibbs and made sergeant. He was near the person of George Washington in all the battles and a close friend.

This body guard was organized in 1776 "as runs the order," the men must be in height five foot eight, or five foot ten inches; age between twenty and thirty years, and men of established character for sobriety, fidelity and bravery. They must be American-born.

Sgt. Warrington was married four times, and Mrs. Turner is the only child by the last wife, who was born in 1791, and died in 1874. They were married February 12, 1836, and lived on a farm near Cincinnati, O., where Mrs. Turner was born December 31, 1836. He died May 25, 1852, and was buried in Delaware county, Ohio.

An oil portrait showing Sgt. Warrington in uniform and exhibited at the state house in 1876, is now owned by Charles Greer of New Castle, Pa. It is one of few, if not the only oil painting still preserved in good condition of a body guard of General George Washington. During the Centennial at Philadelphia in 1876, Mrs. Turner was offered all expenses to take this portrait of her father and remain during the exposition, and one of the regrets of her life has been this offer was not taken.

Mrs. Turner started alone this morning for her home in far away Dakota and with her goes the hearty good wishes of those privileged to meet her while in our city.

NEWARK GIRLS AND BOYS WILL AID RED CROSS

The American Red Cross has been requested by the government to have a Christmas membership campaign with the view of increasing the membership to twenty million in the United States for the year beginning January 1, 1918.

The executive committee of the Newark and Licking county chapter has requested the public schools of the city and county to make this campaign for new and renewal membership.

At a meeting of the board of education last evening, the matter was presented to the school authorities by a committee composed of Rev. L. P. Franklin, C. H. Davis, W. H. Mazy and A. R. Lindorf.

The board was enthusiastic in endorsing the plan of a canvass of the city by school pupils, and set Thursday, December 13, as Red Cross day. The schools will be dismissed on the afternoon of this day and every pupil above the fourth grade will become a Red Cross campaigner. Each pupil will be given five membership cards to get signed and collect one dollar from the subscriber.

The children and teachers of the Newark schools have never failed in an undertaking. They will not fail in this. Every adult in the city will treat these young patriots kindly and encourage them in this patriotic work. Sgt. Hawkins of the local schools, gives the matter his hearty endorsement and will assist the principals and teachers in the organization of their pupils for this service.

MEETING OF THE EDUCATION BOARD

The regular meeting of the board of education was held Monday evening and all the members were in attendance, with the exception of S. W. Haight.

Only routine measures came before the board and a number of the usual small bills were allowed. A committee composed of W. H. Mazy, A. R. Lindorf and Rev. L. P. Franklin, representative of the Red Cross, called upon the board to ask for the granting of a half holiday, Thursday, December 13, to the students of the schools from the fifth grade up. It is planned to make it a day for a national campaign by the school children for members for the Red Cross. The board agreed to grant the half holiday.

MISS BROWN CONTINUES TO SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Mrs. Homer Teale received a letter today from her sister, Miss Mabel Brown, stating that her sister, Miss Brown, was greatly improved and that her physicians give hope of her ultimate recovery. She was able to take nourishment yesterday at the hospital where she was taken after having swallowed tablets by mistake, thinking they were for a sore throat. Miss Mabel will remain with her sister at the hospital.

CLING TO CHARM OF YOUTH

Good Complexion Cannot Be Retained If Covered With Layers of Rouge and Swathes of Powder.

Every young girl, no matter who she may be, has the charm of youth and should hold it. It is as elusive as a dream and cannot last for many years, so while it is hers she should cherish it. It is the look of youth.

But no girl can hold it, no matter how clever, who covers it up with layers of rouge and swathes of powder, declares a beauty specialist. A touch of rouge when one is tired and the face is colorless, especially in the evening, is not unpardonable, but the girl who has a good complexion, the gift of nature, should never resort to rouge or powder, except for the light rice powder that keeps the face from the shiny look, which is such a detractor of beauty.

It seems almost unbelievable that any girl with a really good complexion would resort to paint or powder, and yet it is true that many do. It may be that these girls have an idea that these aids to complexion give to them the appearance of sophistication.

And they are right, in a measure. For rouge invariably does give the lines of the face an older look, a hardening of the countenance, if too rashly used.

STYLES FOR WINTER COATS

Fashion Provides for Straight Lines With Generous Fullness, but There Must Be No Flare.

Straight lines characterize the best coats designed for the season. This must not be taken to mean that the garments are narrow. Quite the contrary is true. Generous fullness is let in, but they are without flare. In street and utility coats sleeves are usually set in, while flowing sleeves cut in one with the garment are the rule on evening wraps.

An indicated waistline is almost the invariable rule with the new coats. Sometimes a belt that is wide and girlish-shaped is used; again a strap belt, tied loosely and with hanging ends may be favored.

The coat with empire back and slightly circular front section is occasionally seen.

Dressy afternoon coats of satin, or velvet, and nearly always elaborately trimmed, are being given a great deal of attention by the best designers and a strong demand for them is expected.

WATCH THE LITTLE THINGS

Wise Mothers Keep Eye on Remnant Counter and Utilize Leftovers for Little Girls' Dresses.

The little girl of the family may be charmingly outfitted at a trifling cost, if thought and industry go into the task.

Few people are so foolish as to underestimate the importance of appearance, and the woman who dresses well with a comparatively small outlay of money in her turn, has been properly dressed as a child by a mother who took interest in her small daughter's clothes.

The wise mother will keep an eye on the remnant counter, and on odds and ends left over from the apparel of grown-up members of the family. With a clever combination of fabrics, or a deft touch of handwork here and there, she will give originality and individuality to dresses for the little girl.

A complete season's outfit should never be arranged at one time. A new dress now and then means more to a child than it does to an adult, so that to some extent the juvenile wardrobe should be arranged piecemeal.

BOTH HANDSOME AND USEFUL

This model exemplifies the fact that a suit can be both handsome and useful. It is a serviceable all-round suit of taupe velour, with a touch of mole trimming.

A man's character is never formed. It reformed.

ROYAL WELCOME IN PITTSBURGH FOR CHAMPIONS

Ohio Boys and Girls on Corn Special Had Royal Good Time in the "Smoky City."

Dear Advocate—About one thousand boys and girls in the party of "Ohio State Corn Champions" reached Pittsburgh Monday evening. They are boys and girls of Ohio who have made records in the corn-growing, food raising, stock feeding and domestic science contests during the season just closed, and left their homes for a week's trip as guests of the State of Ohio and those interested in contest work, and are to tour the East, stopping at Washington, Philadelphia, New York and other places. About five hundred friends accompany the boy and girl champions. They came to Pittsburgh on six different trains, all composed of sleepers, and from this point the party proceeded together. They were royally entertained here and shown great honors by members of the Pittsburgh Commercial club, who escorted them from the Union Station to the Fort Pitt hotel where a banquet was served in the spacious English room. It is the third time that this club has so royally entertained the "Corn Boys of Ohio." Following the banquet there was a valedictory show. Many prominent officers of the city and county, not belonging to the club, were invited as special guests to the festivities. Of course your correspondent joined in with the boys and helped them to have a jolly good time. The evening's entertainment was informal and will long be remembered by our champions of the Buckeye State. The "Corn Boys and Girls" are regarded as real patriotic heroes, this year, now that the United States is in the world war.

Former Governors of Ohio were advertised to meet the boys here on former occasions like this and never came, but this time Governor James M. Cox of Ohio was present and addressed the young people in a way that was both pleasing and instructive. He reminded them that they had performed a patriotic duty in causing two ears of corn to grow where their fathers and grown only one before. "This bunch of young people is only a sample of what we have back in Ohio. What do you think of them?" said he. He reminded them that they were in a great city, where more than one-half the steel in the world is produced; that the war could not be won without Pittsburgh; neither can it be won without corn. He dwelt at some length on conditions that lead up to the world war, and was enthusiastic in his statements that America has made wonderful strides in the way of implements of war that will eventually result in victory for the allies. He also reminded his hearers that the people of Ohio have made great sacrifices on account of the war; that they have looked out of the windows of their homes and noticed the coal being hauled over the great trunk lines which pass through Ohio, to keep up the great industries of the Northwest and other places at work while there was a scarcity at home; that the mothers of the state have made a still greater sacrifice in giving up their sons in response to their country's call.

Many of the "Corn Boys of Ohio" have purchased Liberty bonds. They are today in Washington, being ushered into the presence of President Wilson, Herbert C. Hoover and Secretary of War Baker, who will honor them with addresses. They will steam down the Potomac to Mt. Vernon, the home of Washington, where they will stand before his tomb with uncovered heads, the most sacred place on the American continent, where rest the ashes of the Father of our country, who fought to make it what it is today, a Liberty-loving people. But I must stop writing, wishing the "Corn Boys and Girls of Ohio" a jolly good time and a safe return to their homes.

SMALLPOX SPREADING.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Dec. 5.—Reports received by the state board of health today from 41 of the 88 counties in the state, show that there were 427 cases of smallpox in Ohio in November, and that the disease is spreading. Sidney, Shelby county, had the largest number of cases, with 70.
Shelby county had a total of 190
cases.

State health officials are urging local health boards to take stringent means to keep the disease from reaching the epidemic stage.

MAY FILE WAIVER AND BE EXAMINED FOR ARMY SERVICE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Dec. 5.—Draft registrants whose classification and order numbers are so low that they do not fall within the current quotas of their local boards may at their request be immediately inducted into the military service, Provost Marshal General Crowder today announced.

Upon filing with his local board a waiver of all claims of deferred classification, a man in a deferred class may be examined and sent to camp immediately, although not as part of his board's quota, as this would violate the provisions of the selective service law, which prohibit substitution. Where the claim has been dependency a waiver by the dependents must accompany that of the registrant, but waivers for the child or mentally unfit persons will not be recognized.

Another registrant may enlist in the navy or marine corps. General Crowder said, upon presentation to a recruiting officer of a certificate by his local board that his class and order numbers are so low that he does not fall within the current quota. Subsequently, upon presentation to the board of his enlistment certificate, he will be placed in Class 5, the discard class, on the ground that he is in the naval service.

The new regulations also provide that by permission of the surgeon general of the army and under his regulation, any medical student, hospital intern, dentist, dental student, veterinary or veterinary student, may enlist in the medical reserve corps and he will be placed in the discard class. A registrant may also be commission in the army, navy or marine corps, or appointed an army field clerk, regardless of his classification or order number.

It was pointed out today by General Crowder that registrants have until December 15 to enlist in the military forces.

APAPA HIT BY SECOND TORPEDO

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Dec. 5.—The British steamer Apapa according to the Daily Mail was nearing home after a two months voyage when she was torpedoed without warning. The lifeboats were manned immediately and all would have been rescued but the submarine fired a second torpedo while the women and children were being lowered to the boats, causing the ship to sink immediately with 80 passengers and the crew.

Another report says that forty passengers and thirty members of the crew were lost, and that the survivors were landed on the west coast.
The Daily Mail appends to its story
the names of some prominent U-boat victims whose deaths were announced
Tuesday. Among them were W. R.
Townsend, attorney general of the Gold Coast and F. H. Longhurst, director of public works in Gold Coast.

iator who has not been identified,

TORTURING ECZEMA

Evans Cut Rate Drug Store has sold hundreds of jars of Hekara, and although they offered to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied purchaser, not one jar has been returned.
While this is surprising in itself yet the most marvelous thing is the reports of chronic cases of eczema that have been cured by this simple skin food. People who have suffered with scales, scabs and even bleeding itching have found relief in Hekara.
No matter where the eczema, pimples or other breaking out occurs, whether on the face, hands, legs or body, the application of Hekara should give quick relief, and even the worst or most chronic cases should be cured in a short time.
You can buy a liberal-sized jar to-

'BROWNIE' APPOINTED HISTORIAN OF LOCAL ELK LODGE, NO. 391

At a well attended meeting of the Elk Lodge last evening a resolution was introduced and adopted naming Warren M. Brown as historian for the local order. Mr. Brown, or "Brownie" as every one calls him, is especially well qualified for the honor conferred as there is probably no one of the 400 members of Newark lodge more familiar with events which have happened since the institution of the lodge in 1898. The Christmas committee reported that it has been making satisfactory progress in the different affairs planned for the holiday season but was not yet ready to announce the program. It will however, provide a treat of some sort for the worthy poor children of the city, and Manager George M. Fenberg, one of the most loyal Elks in the country has tendered his services and thrown open his purse to assist in the project. He states that the children must not be overlooked and so he is arranging for a special picture and a special entertainment for them and then he is going to assist the Elks in raising several hundred dollars with which to provide "something or other" which will be announced in the very near future.

At the next meeting there will be an initiation of candidates and the winter program will be announced. Those candidates who have been accepted into the order but not yet initiated should prepare themselves for an evening of rare pleasure as they will be given a welcome in keeping with the reputation of the Elk institution.

Thursday evening, Dec. 13, the beautiful dance emporium of the local lodge will be thrown open to Elk members and the light fantastic will be indulged in until midnight. Preparations are now under way for the annual Elk minstrel to be given in the near future and which will be under the personal direction of Harry B. Hale and Oscar Stanton of Zanesville. An entirely new minstrel will be given and rehearsals for same will begin in a very short time.

THIS WILL HAPPEN IN MANY PLACES

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Dec. 5.—Farmers and speculators near Camp Mills, L. I., who have been figuring on holding large stocks of the last drop of potatoes for a high price, are in a panic today as the result of the experience of one of their number who had a barn full of potatoes which he was holding for $10 a barrel.

An officer from the United States commissary of the camp went to the farm and asked the farmer if he had potatoes to sell. He said he had, but would give no quotations as he was holding them for a high price later on. The officer then told him they were all sold at $5 a barrel, and for him not to touch them.

NERVOUSNESS AND BLUES

Symptoms of More Serious Sickness.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, headache, nervous spells and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would ache all over and feel so sick that I would not want anyone to talk to me at times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. ROBT. JUST PLAIN IRON BEST FOR BLOOD AND COSTS LESS

NATURAL IRON. HIGHLY CONCENTRATED IS BEST.

Twelve Ounces Acid Iron Mineral Costs About a Dollar and Goes Farther. Is Stronger, Too.

Instead of taking a pill or a dose of some prepared remedy which perhaps contains alcohol or a blasting cathartic you don't need, why not get a bottle of medicinal Acid Iron Mineral, a highly concentrated natural iron, testing over 10 degrees specific gravity.

A bottle of Acid Iron Mineral costs a dollar, contains twelve ounces of strong, high concentrated, natural medicinal iron. So powerful, though harmless that a few drops in a glass of water makes a dose. It is cheaper, and is a natural tonic one need never be ashamed of taking.

It is put up in six and twelve ounce bottles for individual and family use by the Ferrodine Chemical Corp., and their "trade mark," "A-I-R-I" on bottle and carton is your guarantee of strength and quality. It is never sold except in special bottles or containers, ranging in size from doctor's emergency kit 2 ounce vial to barrels which are sold to medicine manufacturers, half and one gallon bottles for physicians and hospitals.

Get a 12 ounce bottle. Pour a few drops, say half a teaspoonful, in a glass of water and note how quickly it drives out poisons from the blood, strengthens and tones you up, brings back the color and sparkle to cheeks and eyes and banishes rheumatic complaints, and that tired, weary, no-good feeling.

You like it this way, too and its stronger, cheaper, and better for you. Absolutely no alcohol or dope. It doesn't disturb the bowels and yet it speeds the appetite and aids digestion. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

REASON IS GIVEN FOR SUSPENDING WORK OF Y. W. C. A.

The Board of Directors of the Young Woman's Christian Association, extends hearty and sincere thanks to the beneficent public for its continued support of the past five years, confesses inability to promote the work under present conditions and formally announces the suspension of activities until more propitious times.

This decision has not been lightly reached; a tentative campaign for maintenance for one year, has been attempted among the subscribers of the association, which was discontinued only after the assurance was made that the money necessary to maintain the association in its present quarters, could not, in these times, be secured.

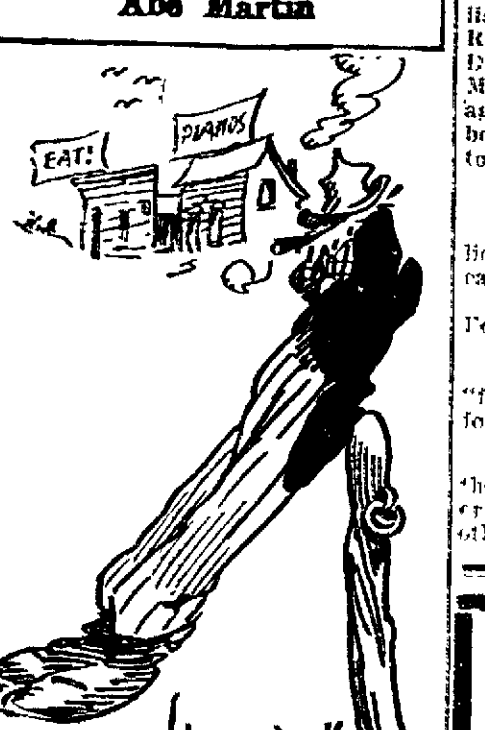

The intervention of war—which brought the increasingly high prices of food commodities as well as the scarcity of fuel—added to the necessity of paying rent for a "Residence Home," the conviction that our subscribers have been heavily taxed and that they will soon be required to give with both hands towards the successful prosecution of the war, are the contributing factors which have resulted in bringing to a close on the first of January the activity of the present association.

The Board of Directors reached this decision, and it was effected only after careful deliberation of ways and means, after much prayerful consideration and in the hope of giving future Young Women's Christian association service to the girls and the young womanhood of Newark.

The wisest of all. "America is composed of three classes of men: First, those who have succeeded; and second, those who haven't." "Yes? And the third?" "Oh, they're the fellows who write articles for the magazines telling the second class how the first class did it."—Life.

The road to success is strewn with beautiful flowers, but the man who would get there has no time to pick them.

He "Conscientiously Recommends"
Nerv-Worth to Fellow Sufferers.

Observe that this endorser's ailments were long continued and deep-rooted:

"For eight or ten years I had been run down greatly. Lost weight and strength and was unable to sleep well. My stomach was in poor condition. Did not have any appetite and did not digest the food well. My kidneys also troubled me and I had a constant pain across my back. I did not feel able at times to do my work. I began to take Nerv-Worth after seeing what it had done for some of my fellow-workmen on the street cars. It began to build me up and strengthen me very quickly. My stomach improved wonderfully and it created such an appetite that I feared I would eat too much at times. I sleep five and the pain in back and kidneys is gone. All in all it is the finest medicine I ever used and can conscientiously recommend it to anyone who has any trouble similar to mine." N. D. LINDEMUTH.

COMMUNITY XMAS CELEBRATION WILL BE HELD IN PARK

Plans were outlined at a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday evening, for the holding of a community Christmas celebration around the community Christmas tree in the public square, either on the afternoon of Sunday, December 23, or the evening of Monday, December 24. It was suggested that the children of the public schools and the Sunday school be formed into a chorus to lead in singing Christmas carols with possibly one or two cornet solos and a 10 or 15-minute talk by a local pastor.

A special committee was appointed consisting of the following to handle all arrangements: Rev. D. D. Tullis, O. J. Barnes, Dr. Clark B. Hatch, Rev. Calvin G. Hazlett, A. Nelson Todd, E. T. Hollingsworth, W. M. Morgan, J. N. Pugh, and the manager. Meeting of the committee will be called within the next five days to arrange the program.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take
Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for cod-liver oil—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like cod-liver oil—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.
